Kappa Gamma Pi Chooses Ten

Ten outstanding senior girls were recently chosen for membership in Kappa Gamma Pi, a national scholastic and activity honor society of Catholic women.

THE GIRLS ARE: Jane

Merryman, Menlo Park, Calif.; Shirley Anderson, Anaconda, Mont.; Michele Mulherin, Hollywood, Calif.; Mutsuko Ari-ma, Seattle; Shirley Ebner, Mt. Angel, Ore.; Lois White-side, Kirkland; Suzanne Hohl, Seattle; Valerie Fernandez, Hong Kong, China; Rosemary Hebner, Renton, and Celine Hulbert, Lewiston, Idaho.

The girls were chosen on the basis of their outstanding leadership and participation in extra-curricular activities. They must be graduating with honors and have been attending Seattle U. for at least two consecutive years, according to Miss Agnes E. Reilly, Dean of Women.

CANDIDATES WERE considered, their transcripts checked by the registrar's office and final choice was made by faculty members.

The ten girls will be feted at a dinner on April 14 at Skipper's Restaurant. The Rev. Thomas L. O'Brien, S.J., moderator of the Seattle chapter of Kappa Gamma Pi, will be guest speaker.

I.K.'s Select New Officers

Ferdie Reichlin, a junior from Tacoma, is the new duke of the Intercollegiate Knights. For the past year he has been chancellor of the exchequer.

Knight of Knights Chosen by IK's

Jerry Smith, an engineering major, has been awarded the knight of knights trophy given annually to the Intercollegiate Knight who has contributed the most towards the improvement of the chapter and the university.

Tom Sell, an education major, has been nominated as chapter representative for the award of national knight of knights. He will compete against members from chapters all over the nation.

Both selections were made by a vote of the active members.

Elections took place Tuesday night. Other new officers are Tom Sell, chancellor of the exchequer, Jerry Smith, scribe, Cliff Fouty, publicity director, Peyton Gannaway, worthy recorder, and Greg Lowe, expansion officer.

U. W. Dean to Speak

Dr. George Neff Stevens, dean of the University of Washington school of law will address the law club tonight in the conference room of the Chieftain at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Stevens will discuss "Advantages of a Legal Education."

Richard D. Amandes, assistant dean of the UW law school, will also be present.

City Installing Meters Around Residence Halls

Marycrest and McHugh Halls will be surrounded by parking meters when the new meters begin ticking. Meters are being installed on Minor from James to Columbia, on Cherry between Minor and Broadway and on Broadway between Madison and Columbia.

THE SIX-HOUR meters will start operating "probably around the middle of May," according to E. E. Lewarch of the City Traffic Engineers. He added that the City Ordinance was passed "early this year." The date was still being checked by the City Council office at press time.

"Businessmen have protested all-day parking in the area," said Lewarch, "and the meters are being installed to control parking space where it is needed. The city has vacated several streets to Seattle U. While we feel the University needs more parking space, it is one of the obligations of property-owners to provide parking facilities."

THE ORDINANCE was passed by City Council. A public hearing was held on the appropriations for the meters. There was no public hearing on the decision of meter locations, according to Charles Heib in the City Council offices. That decision is up to the Traffic Engineering department, he said.

Mike Desmond, ASSU Treasurer, told the Spectator that "about half" of the student parking lot is still vacant. Tickets may be purchased in the ASSU office for $3.

THE STUDENT parking lot is two blocks from Marycrest Hall.

Over-time parking tickets are $1 if paid within seven days, $5 afterwards, payable at City Hall.

PROSPECTIVE ALPHA Kappa Psi pledge, Don Ogorek, signs his name for pledge drive co-chairmen Don Stewart and Bob Fretwell.

CAMPUS BUSINESS FRATERNITY:

A K Psi Launches Drive To Increase Membership

SU's chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, national business fraternity, will begin seeking new pledges today. The campaign will continue for one month and interested eligible students may sign up at the Commerce and Finance office or contact Robert Fretwell or Don Stewart, pledge drive co-chairmen.

In order to be eligible to pledge A K Psi, student must be male, a C & F major, have at least a 2.0 grade average and pass an examination on the history of the fraternity.

PLEDGES WILL BE required to attend several fraternity meetings where they will be briefed on fraternity policies and what will be expected of them as members. At a dinner banquet in May, the pledges will be formally initiated.

The purpose of A K Psi is to promote better business relations between fraternity members, teachers and businessmen, according to Fretwell and Stewart.

MEMBERS ARE benefited by the National chapter of the fraternity which sponsors a scholarship program, student loan fund and employment placement service for all A K Psi members.

This summer, the SU chapter will host part of the national Alpha Kappa Psi convention in Seattle. Other Northwest chapters will be helping and between 300-400 delegates are expected to attend.

Art Club Revives Fine Arts Ball

The Fine Arts Ball, sponsored by the Art Club, will be held April 17 in the ballroom of the Edmond Meany Hotel. Dress will be semi-formal. Music for dancing will be by the Vagabonds from 9 p.m. to midnight.

According to co-chairmen of the event, Kathy Kleffner and Irene Herron, a queen will be chosen at the dance. Girls are to design and make a mask to wear at the dance. On the basis of the originality and cleverness of the masks, one girl will be chosen as queen and crowned that evening.

The Fine Arts Ball is open to all Seattle U students. Tickets are $2.50 and will be on sale in the Chieftain.

Pershing Rifles Meets Today

The Pershing Rifles, military social fraternity, will hold its initial meeting today at noon in room two of the ROTC building. Any interested freshman and sophomore cadets may sign for membership.

The group plans an overnight trip to the Hanford Atomic plant on April 17 and 18. Also in the offing is a field trip to Fort Lewis, according to cadet Oneal McGowan.

Officers are Cadet Captain Jack Monrean, C.O.; Cadet 1st Lieutenant Gary Koontz, Committee Executive; S1 John Bonet, S2 Larry McHugh, S3 Oneal McGowan and S4 Paul Chinen.

MUN Delegates Attend Bloc Meet

The seven Seattle U. delegates to the Model United Nations at U.S.C. later this month attended a Communist Bloc meeting at Pacific University in Forest Grove, Ore., last weekend.

Seattle U., representing Communist Bulgaria, attended meetings for five committees and discussed the recently-issued revised agenda for the MUN. Other schools present were the U. of Oregon, Portland U., Marylhurst, O.S.C. and Pacific University. Seattle U. was the only school in Washington attending.

Guest speaker at the one-day conference was the head of the political science department at Pacific U., who spoke on the problems in the Middle East. Parliamentary procedure at the MUN was also discussed.

Room Request Deadline Set

Room reservation requests for women resident students must be made by April 30, according to Miss Agnes E. Reilly, Dean of Women.

Miss Reilly will speak to the dorm girls tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the Marycrest dining room. All information necessary for spring and fall quarters will be given then, she said.

Valedictorian To Be Chosen

All graduating seniors with a grade point of 3.25 or over are eligible to try out for graduation valedictorian.

According to Miss Mary Alice Lee, registrar, letters will be sent out early next week informing the eligible seniors. Tryout dates have not been set.

A board of faculty members will judge the tryout speeches which may be on any topic. Speech length will be from five to 15 minutes. The exact length is yet to be decided.

If there are a large number of candidates it may necessitate a second judging with the top four or five from the preliminary tryouts competing.

Male 'Beauties' To Highlight Movie

June Allyson teams up with Academy Award winner David Niven in the comedy "My Man Godfrey" to be shown at 7:30 p.m. April 12 in Piggot Auditorium.

During intermission, a bathing beauty contest will be held in reverse of the usual order—with all male contestants.

Contestants will include: Lee Eberhardt, Jim Geraghty, Terry Turner, Gene Hogan, Don Barrett and Wally Flannery.

Proceeds from the movie will be donated to Alaska missions.

AWS Re-Evaluation Group To Meet Again Sunday Night

The next meeting of the AWS Re-Evaluation Committee will be Sunday at 5:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Student Union Building, according to President Sue Hohl.

Dr. Charles S. LaCugna, head of the political science department, will attend the meeting and assist in the Constitution revision.

A representative of Kathleen Peck Studio will speak on the "Well-Groomed College Girl" on either April 22 or 23, it was decided at the Tuesday meeting.

An AWS Girl of the Year will be chosen from among the AWS Girl of the Month winners. Miss Agnes E. Reilly, Dean of Women, will make the selection after the names have been submitted to the board.

Further plans were made for the Spring Tolo Day on May 22. Representatives of women's organizations volunteered their clubs' services for projects. AWS chairmanships and work was formerly done through individuals rather than the board.

YR's to Debate 'Welfare State'

A meeting of the SU Young Republicans will be Monday, 8:15 p.m. in the Chieftain lounge.

Group discussion will center on the pros and cons of the welfare state, defining the role of the state in the life of the individual.

Arguments for a strong and protective government will be presented by Joe Demo, Ron Ottavelli and John Brennan, while the case against is given by Bill Hartinger, Judy McRae and Sue Vigil.

According to president Franc Schuckardt, the meeting is open to all interested students.

EDITORIAL:

Save Those Nickels!

The Spring planting of parking meters near Seattle U. is going to pose a problem for day students, but the half-filled student parking lot may solve part of it. The situation which confronts the car-owners in Marycrest and McHugh halls is much more serious.

IN THE MIDDLE of May, when the new meters start working, none of the streets bordering the halls will offer free parking. The City promises to install six-hour meters so nickels won't be needed every hour, but the girls are faced with moving their cars at least twice a day—and at the same time shelling out 40c per day to the meters.

THE CITY claims businessmen in the area have protested all-day parking. Certainly six-hour meters will not make many more spaces available.

The only avenue open to the students seems to be a protest to the City Council—and a handful of nickels, just in case. . . .

THE LIFE OF:

The Mother of 63 Girls

By Walli Zimmerman

"I wouldn't trade my 63 girls for anyone else's family," the attractive gray-haired lady declared, shaking her head vehemently. My eyebrow arched incredulously as she continued. "Being a housemother is a job just like anything else, but we're 'companions' not manual laborers."

At this point I leaned back in my chair in her comfortable room, eager to hear this "mother of 63" continue her story.

"MOST COLLEGE students think housemothers don't have any regulations to follow, and are only occupied with making rules for others. That's not the case! We have one day and one afternoon off each week—plus every other week-end. But, the rest of the week, we're on call 24 hours a day. We answer telephones, sort mail, work on the desk, take room check, work on the switchboard and make sure every girl gets the most out of dorm life."

"IF OUR JOB sounds easy—remember that even a small task can be a problem. Have you ever awakened at 3 a.m., struggled up to answer the telephone and tried to make an intelligible reply to someone who thought they had Swedish Hospital or United Airlines?"

I began to realize that if a housemother had time to record and publish her memoirs, she'd have a best-selling novel. I urged her to go on.

"We housemothers rarely have an 'ordinary day,'" she said with a smile, "and we never expect one!"

"ONE MORNING I came down to breakfast only to find chairs in the elevators, potted plants in the telephone booths, sofas and end tables turned upside down. WHO-DUNNIT???"

"OR, TAKE the sunny morning I awoke and found a car parked sedately and rather precariously at the top of the steps of Marycrest. I find strength and even temper hard to muster at times like this. I couldn't carry the car away. I could (and did) count to ten. I opened my eyes. 'Wishing' hadn't moved the car an inch."

"Another morning when all else seemed in place, the doors of Marycrest 'happened' to be chained shut from the outside. At 8:02, when the stampede for 8:10 classes began, I was seeking that 'easy going spirit"—and—a hacksaw! I made a firm decision that night I'd watch 'Racket Squad' and pick up a few pointers.

"AFTERNOONS can be interesting too. On one such, while I was leisurely strolling down the hall, I came upon a girl on her hands and knees, wielding a screwdriver. She was frantically trying to unhinge the door. When I asked just what she was doing, she calmly replied: 'Oh, I just wanted to put Room 616 where 632 is and put 632 where 616 is! That's ALL!'"

"I'M NOT A FIREMAN," the housemother declared! I don't wear his cap or have his courage. Yet one day I was asked by an animal-loving lass to rescue a cat stranded on our roof. I didn't have the nerve to walk the ledge. I couldn't ask the girl to be a feline heroine. How did we get the cat down? Well, we didn't. We decided it wasn't a cat!

"When girls get locked inside a room, I'm expected to have the skill of a thief, be a wonder with a knife, and open that door! When 17 girls are locked in an elevator suspended in mid-air, I'm supposed to remain calm and collected, keep them the same and get them out!

HEARING ABOUT the girls' pranks, I wondered if a housemother's memoirs would include any "male problems." I got only this comment: "You forget this is a girls' dormitory. Where is there a better place to see boys' pranks at their best?"

"Have you ever tried to cope with a group of boys who come serenading in the middle of the night?" she asked. "Or have you tried to discourage a bunch who come armed with a load of snow to 'snowball' Marycrest? Have you ever found a UW pledge chained to a pillar in your house?" After a sigh—"I have."

BY THIS TIME I had forgotten about asking questions and was just being a good listener. Suddenly, we heard a shriek from outside the door. The housemother was up and had the door open before I had a chance to move.

As I looked down the hall and saw our housemother busy with "just another day's work," I wondered—"Would I trade her places?"

THE TRUE AND TYPICAL CASE OF CHATSWORTH OSCEOLA

You all know, of course, that every engineering senior is receiving fabulous offers from dozens of corporations, but do you know just how fabulous these offers are? Do you have any idea how widely the corporations are competing? Let me cite for you the true and typical case of Chatsworth Osceola, a true and typical senior.

Chatsworth, walking across the M.I.T. campus one day last week, was hailed by a man sitting in a yellow convertible studded with precious gem stones. "Hello," said the man, "I am Norwalk T. Sigafoos of the Sigafoos Bearing and Bushing Company. Do you like this car?"

"Yeah, hey," said Chatsworth.

"It's yours," said Sigafoos.

"Thanks, hey," said Chatsworth.

"Do you like Philip Morris?" said Sigafoos.

"Of corris," said Chatsworth.

"Here is a pack," said Sigafoos. "And a new pack will be delivered to you at twelve-minute intervals every day as long as you shall live."

"Thanks, hey," said Chatsworth.

"Does your wife like Philip Morris?" said Sigafoos.

"She would," said Chatsworth, "but I'm not married."

"Do you want to be?" said Sigafoos.

"What American boy doesn't?" said Chatsworth.

Sigafoos pressed a button on the dashboard of his convertible and the trunk opened up and out came a nubile maiden with golden hair, flawless features, a perfect disposition, and the appendix already removed. "This is Laurel Geduldig," said Sigafoos. "Would you like to marry her?"

"Is her appendix out?" said Chatsworth.

"Yes," said Sigafoos.

"Okay, hey," said Chatsworth.

"Congratulations," said Sigafoos. "And for the happy bride, a pack of Philip Morris every twelve minutes for the rest of her life."

"Thanks, hey," said Laurel.

"Now then," said Sigafoos to Chatsworth, "let's get down to business. My company will start you at $45,000 a year. You will retire at full salary upon reaching the age of 26. When you start work, we will give you a three-story house made of bullion, complete with a French Provincial swimming pool. We will provide sitter service for all your children until they are safely through puberty. We will keep your teeth in good repair, and also the teeth of your wife and children unto the third generation. We will send your dentist a pack of Philip Morris every twelve minutes as long as he shall live. . . . Now, son, I want you to think carefully about this offer. Meanwhile, here is ten thousand dollars in small, unmarked bills, which places you under no obligation whatsoever."

"It certainly seems like a fair offer," said Chatsworth. "But there is something you should know. I am not an engineer. In fact, I don't go to M.I.T. at all. I am a poetry major at Harvard. I just came over here on a bird walk."

"Oh," said Sigafoos.

"I guess I don't get to keep the money and the convertible and Laurel now, do I?" said Chatsworth.

"Of course you do," said Sigafoos. "And if you'd like the job, my offer still stands."

'Perfect Job' Found In P.R. Office

By JEAN MERLINO

Talking above the clatter of the Addressograph machine in the basement of Xavier Hall, Ron Fosse discussed his work for the Public Relations office.

One of his duties is to make mail deliveries to the Terminal Post Office for the Spectator, the Alumni "Chieftain" magazine, "S. U. Reports," "Science Fair Reports" and the "Foreign Trade Explorer." He estimates that on occasion he has carried 400 pounds of mail in his 1950 Chevrolet. "Improperly addressed and unsorted envelopes," he explained, "have caused frequent extra trips to the terminal during the week."

RON FOSSE

RON, A JUNIOR majoring in accounting, graduated from Twin City High School in Stanwood, Wash., where he was a three-year letterman in football, baseball and track. He attends all S.U. home basketball games. "My pet peeve is referee Pop Haggerty," he laughed, "with or without his contact lenses."

STRADDLING A BENCH Ron went on to say, "This is a perfect job during the school year, living in the dorm, working on campus and getting an occasional chance to meet a celebrity. The office has terrific atmosphere and no pressure is applied by the bosses."

During the summer Ron returns to Stanwood to work at the Twin City Frozen Food plant, where for the past five years he has operated the scales, wrapping machines and worked on the maintenance crew.

An ROTC Cadet Captain, this summer his work will be interrupted by a six-week stint at Ft. Lewis summer camp.

Why did 14,436 sophomores enter advanced Army R.O.T.C. during 1958?

Many more applied. Not all were accepted. In more than 200 U. S. colleges, 14,436 college sophomores met the high standards set. These students were selected to continue officer training in the advanced R.O.T.C. course. Why did each of these young men decide that he would benefit by fulfilling his military obligation as an Army officer? Here are two important reasons. Perhaps they'll help you make your decision.

1...TRADITIONAL RESPONSIBILITIES

As an Army officer, you're in command of men. More men than the number supervised by many civilian executives years older than yourself. To meet your command responsibilities, you employ a great many of the LEADERSHIP principles acquired in advanced R.O.T.C. training. And your executive potential develops while you gather LEADERSHIP experience. The executive ability you gain as an Army officer will be an important advantage in any civilian career. That's why employment directors often prefer men who have served as commissioned officers. These men have already proven their capacity to handle executive responsibility.

2...TRADITIONAL REWARDS

In every organization, greater responsibilities mean greater rewards. The traditional prestige of an Army officer is matched by material advantages. A second lieutenant earns a minimum of $355.88 per month—plus substantial fringe benefits. Think you might want to marry soon after graduation? An officer's salary can make things a great deal easier for a married couple just starting out. What's more, an Army officer is entitled to take his dependents with him, wherever possible. Imagine sharing the fun of travel with your wife—in the United States or foreign countries like France, Germany or Japan.

Interview With Athletic Director O'Brien:

NCAA May Consider Seattle University Case

By Jerry Lavell, Sports Editor

Q. In your recent talk with Walter Byers, NCAA executive secretary, did he give any evidence of lifting the ban before next year?

A. Nothing concrete. He said the infractions Committee will meet in April. He didn't know when, and if our case would come up.

Q. Do you plan as athletic director to bring any other sports to Seattle U?

A. We would like to get gymnastics. We hope to get a track team here in the future, and as many sports as we can possibly get.

Q. When is Seattle officially eligible for the NCAA?

A. It would be the 1960-61 season.

Q. Has Vince Cazzetta met with success on his scouting trip?

A. He made a lot of contacts with boys in the East. You cannot actually say he met with success or defeat until enrollment next Fall.

Q. Do you have any idea what teams will meet next year in basketball outside of the regular opponents?

A. We'll play Utah State, Bradley, Idaho, and we hope to have St. Mary's up here. The University of Hawaii will also be here.

Q. How many scholarships does the Athletic department give?

A. We give two full scholarships in baseball. In basketball, we give eight full freshman and 12 full Varsity scholarships. In golf, we give two full scholarships. We have a varying degree and amount of tuition scholarships each year.

Q. How did the basketball players do academically last quarter?

A. Very well. In fact, the boys that were on probation are starting to pick their grades up, and we feel assured now they'll all be eligible next season.

Q. Does this include Coleman and Karach?

A. They both came up in their grade point, and although they're not officially eligible right now, they've indicated that if they continue that way, they'll be ready next Fall.

Q. Next year, will there be an appropriation for a ski team?

A. I doubt it. Right now, we're faced with the problem of not having a gymnasium and with the Civic seating 5,000 with only 4,000 paying seats, we don't have enough income to support a ski program. I feel that if we had a large place to play in or a gymnasium where we could make more income, we could have some other sports, like skiing, which is actually a non-income sport.

Q. Are there any athletic scholarships available for women here at S. U.?

A. Yes. In fact, we have Maureen Driscoll, right now, who is on a tennis scholarship.

Q. Is there a chance of bringing football to Seattle University? It was established at USF and Santa Clara as a low pressure type of football where it is played on a small-time scale for fun.

A. I doubt it. We don't have the facilities which will make it very probable. Even though it's on a small scale, there's a lot of equipment involved, and I would say it's not in the near future.

Q. What success has the school met with in trying to get into or establish a league?

A. We have not met with any success, because we have not been pushing to get into a league. We feel it would be best for the University's program to be in an all-sports conference. Not having football is a drawback. But we feel that with our present program and if we increase it, besides basketball, golf, tennis and baseball, we have a chance of coming into a conference.

Q. What is your impression of your job after your first year?

A. I'm enjoying it very much here at the University. Things are moving very smoothly, and I have good people with which to work.

Q. Is there any chance that you may play professional ball this summer?

A. No, I've retired definitely.

Hiyus to Walk Again Sunday

Barkley lake will be the next destination of Hiyu Coulee hikers. The trip is Sunday.

According to Pat McNulty, club president, this hike is to be one of the last two "counters" toward the overnight. Members are asked to keep this in mind if they plan to participate in the club's two overnight hikes.

Hikers will leave at 8:30 a.m. from the north end of the Liberal Arts building, returning about 5:30 p.m. The hike is open to non-members.

All are warned to dress for snow and carry a lunch. "Be in good voice," said Pat, "because we'll be doing quite a bit of singing."

Photography Fans to Meet Monday In English House

Camera fans will meet at 1 p.m. Monday in the English House.

"All who want to use the darkroom or the cameras should be present," said the Rev. Francis J. Greene, S.J., director of SU's photography facilities.

He also said that those wishing to learn how to use a camera or how to develop and print pictures would be welcome.

THE SCHOOL'S new darkroom has been in operation since mid-February. It is on the first floor of the English House, 925 Marion St.

Fr. Greene said that any student or faculty member may use the darkroom and the cameras provided such person has demonstrated his knowledge of the equipment and is willing to pay for materials used.

HE ADDED that those taking or printing pictures for any school group would not be charged for the equipment or materials, but that the group would be billed for the work.

"Any group in the University," Fr. Greene said, "may request pictures by contacting me or someone connected with the darkroom." He added that pictures will be provided almost at cost.

Men Needed for Operetta

Men are needed to sing in the operetta, "The Desert Song," according to Mr. Carl Pitzer, musical director.

Any men interested in taking chorus parts are asked to see Mr. Pitzer any day of the week except Monday in Buhr hall, room 412, from 12 noon to 1 p.m.

The operetta will be May 13 and 14.

No Spring Break For Aegis Staff

The Aegis delivery date is May 31. "The activities section is still incomplete," said editor Diane Russell, "but our final deadline is April 10."

EDITOR RUSSELL explained that the activities section includes events yet to take place, such as Songfest, Dave Brubeck concert and the Art Club Fine Arts Ball.

Diane, a junior from Aberdeen, stayed in Seattle during vacation to work on the yearbook. Copy editors Marta Schnuriger and Mary Ann Hurray, from Tacoma, also remained. Identification checker Helen McGreevy, from Spokane, worked on the Aegis, "but she had the flu for half the vacation," said Diane.

THE YEARBOOK wasn't all the staff had to contend with during vacation. "They put a beetle display in front of our door during the Science Fair," said Diane, "and we had to crawl under the table to get in or out of the office."

THINKLISH

English: MEDICAL LEXICON

ELIZABETH MOODIE, STATE U. OF IOWA

English: FOSSILIZED REPTILE

WILLIAM ROSE, PENN. STATE

English: BOORISH LOVER BOY

MARGE REDMAN, SEATTLE U.

Thinklish translation: The appropriate word for this gent is Crassanova! Main reasons: 1. He's the only guy we know who sends mimeographed love letters. 2. He's the only guy who doesn't make advances when he runs out of gas (the gal's too busy pushing his car). Too thoughtless to buy his own cigarettes, this bird only dates girls who appreciate the honest taste of fine tobacco. "We always have something in common," he says. "Her Luckies!"

English: SAILOR'S DEBT

English: RUN-DOWN CHICKEN COOP

EMMETT CONNOLLY, U. OF SANTA CLARA

HOW TO MAKE $25

Take a word—ambition, for example. With it, you can make fake desire to succeed (shambition), acting aspirations (hambition), the desire to study (crambition) or the urge to win at bridge (slambition). That's Thinklish—and it's that easy! We're paying $25 for the Thinklish words judged best—your check is itching to go! Send your words to Lucky Strike, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Enclose your name, address, university and class.
